

Tell Me MORE About Yourself

An interactive companion to
*Tell Me About Yourself:
Storytelling to Get Jobs and Propel Your Career*

Just
$2.99

Featuring 70+ hands-on exercises to make you a more memorable job candidate!

A Workbook to Develop Better Job-Search Communication through Storytelling

By Katharine Hansen, PhD

Contents

INTRODUCTION: How to Use this Workbook.....

Chapter 1: Storied Approaches to Finding Your Career Path

Exercise 1.1: Write the story of what you wanted to be when you grew up.

Exercise 1.2: Tell the story of how you chose your current career.....

Exercise 1.3: Chronicle your career to date (internal factors).....

Exercise 1.4: Chronicle your career to date (external factors)

Exercise 1.5: Compose the story of the career you wish you'd had.....

Exercise 1.6: Map your career timeline story.

Exercise 1.7: Recall the story of your best job.

Exercise 1.8: Compose a story about the proudest accomplishment of your working life.....

Exercise 1.9: Identify one positive and one negative personal career incident in detail.

Exercise 1.10: Construct a story about your most difficult job/career.

Exercise 1.11: Tell the story of a career crossroads.

Exercise 1.12: Develop a story about what you'd like to change about your current employer.

Exercise 1.13: Recall a story of coping with change.

Exercise 1.14: Tell the story of why you're moving on.

Exercise 1.15: Write a career-path story based on an informational interview.

Exercise 1.16: Initiate a similar story exercise as in Exercise 1.15 with a written career story.

Exercise 1.17: Conduct same story exercise as in Exercise 1.15 with one/both of your parents.

Exercise 1.18: Picture yourself in your ultimate career with all obstacles removed.

Exercise 1.19: Craft the story of "WHAT you want to be."

Exercise 1.20: Write the story of your most passionate interest.

Exercise 1.21: Tell the story of the job you'd do for free.

Exercise 1.22: Imagine your 100th birthday story.

Exercise 1.23: Identify your Quintessential You Story.

Exercise 1.24: Find stories that make you memorable and interesting.

Exercise 1.25: Explore themes and patterns.

Resources for Chapter 1

PART C: TELLING STORIES IN COVER LETTERS

Exercise 4.C.1: Expand on resume stories.

Exercise 4.C.2: Use a storied Attention -> Desire -> Reasons formula in a cover letter.

Exercise 4.C.3: Craft a variety of cover-letter stories.

Resources for Chapter 4

Chapter 5: Getting Comfortable with Delivering Stories in Job Interviews

PART A: CHOOSING AND REFINING INTERVIEW STORIES

Exercise 5.A.1: Develop a “passion story” for early in the interview.

Exercise 5.A.2: Choose interview themes and accompanying stories.

Exercise 5.A.3: Make resume stories more detailed and conversational.

Exercise 5.A.4: Develop stories that aren’t on your resume.

Exercise 5.A.5: Develop underdog stories.

Exercise 5.A.6: Practice mental juggling with one story.

Exercise 5.A.7: Develop a strengths-based response to “Tell me about yourself.”

Exercise 5.A.8: A story for every interview question?

Exercise 5.A.9: Practice shared narrative with the interviewer.

Exercise 5.A.10: The analogous greatest challenge.

PART B: PRACTICE TELLING STORIES WELL IN INTERVIEWS

Exercise 5.B.1: Practice interview-story teasers with a partner.

Exercise 5.B.2: Practice observing signals that you’ve shared enough.

Exercise 5.B.3: Storied mock interview.

Resources for Chapter 5

Chapter 6: More Tools for Your Storied-Career Toolkit: Personal Branding, Social-Media Profiles, and Transmedia Campaigns

Exercise 6.1: Personal Branding: Write Your “About Me” story.....

Exercise 6.2: Write Your storied Linked-In profile in 2,000 characters.....

Exercise 6.3: Sketch out a transmedia story campaign.

Resources for Chapter 6

Afterword

Extra Writing Space